Divers Matters Keep Borough Police Busy

Dogs, Petty Thievery, Gun Play
Report.

LIST BUILDING PERMITS

Dogs again figured prominently in the police report for June presented at Narberth Borough Council on Monday night. One complaint was made about dogs in general at a certain address without any elaboration as to their offenses. Another complaint was lodged against a particular dog, who, it seems, barks all night, and further misbehaves by chasing passersby.

A great diversity of complaints were received by the police. Boys were reported breaking into the Tennis Club and destroying property; a summons was served on a resident for keeping chickens and dogs in his garage; a three-year-old son was reported missing; three chickens (whether alive or dead was not stated) were stolen from a car parked in the business district; a typewriter was stolen from a parked car on Merion Avenue.

Gunplay also figured in the month's report. "On June 28," the report runs, "at 11:42 the Ardmore police station received a call that there was a man at the Narberth Fire House who had been shot in the foot." The manager of a chain store was merely exterminating rats with the assistance of a .22 rifle. One of his shots went through a door and hit a boy named O'Keefe. The manager and two clerks were arrested but later discharged, making settlement with the injured boy's parents.

Boys with air rifles, a citizen reported, were amusing themselves shooting at the street lights on Shirley Road. How good their aim was the report does not state, but the air rifles are now at the Ardmore police station.

Wet candidates polled heavy votes in Narberth at the primary election this spring, and in endeavoring to uphold in his own person such sentiments one borough resident overdid the matter, and was confined, by order of Magistrate Tom Cronin, of Ardmore, for five days in the Norristown jail for drunkenness.

Broadway, Harlem and Camden are not the only scenes of whoopee and frivolity. On June 23 a "wild party" was reported on Williams Avenue by a citizen. The merry-makers were told to desist in their noisemaking by Lieutenant Duke and Sergeant Wilson, of the Lower Merion force.

A matron on Wynnedale Road reported that her front door had been jimmied and asked that officers go by more often than usual to see that it did not happen again.

Errant baseballs also brought forth complaints. Boys who were playing ball on Essex Avenue found their

'Ell-Bob' Wins Again

At the Wildwood Regatta last Saturday the "Ell-Bob," a Laconia speedster in the family boat class, owned and driven by Stanley E. Haigh, Jr., and Sr., easily won the first place trophy cup.

The previous week the "Ell-Bob" captured a prize in the Avalon Regatta. While it is listed as an Avalon, N. J., boat, its home "port" is Narberth.

Seek Flower Vandal

Narberth police are on the lookout for a woman described as about medium height and a trifle stout who is said to have desecrated some flower gardens in the borough. She was last seen operating on Haverford Avenue. According to reports she only visits the better type of gardens and steals or mutilates choice flowers.

Collection Next Week

Collection of ashes and rubbish will be made throughout the Borough next week by the Highway Department. The collection will be made on the regular days for the different streets.

Brynwood Manor Pool Temporarily Closed

Board of Health's Requirements
Too Stringent for Agent of Property.

BORO REFUSED PERMIT

The project of the Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool, Montgomery Avenue, Narberth, has been abandoned by the Bryn Mawr Trust Company, agent for the owners of the property. This decision was communicated to Burgess Henry A. Frye by a representative of the Trust Company.

A special meeting of the Narberth Board of Health was held last Thursday evening, July 10, at which time a report from a bacteriologist showed that the water in the pool did not meet the standards set forth by the American Health Association.

Thereupon the Board of Health stipulated that further use of the pool would depend on meeting certain requirements. These were the installation of a bath house with showers and toilet facilities, provisions for the purification of the water and the construction of a board walk around the edge of the pool.

The cost of such improvements could not be justified by the Bryn Mawr Trust Company and in addition the borough refused to grant a building permit for a bath house.

Suggestions from borough residents to the Burgess that the borough take over and operate the pool met with the same arguments; too great an operating cost and the fact that the pool would still constitute a nuisance to the neighbors.

Narberth Hands Berwyn Severe Lacing For First Half League Championship

Masters Allows Five Hits As Mates Collect Thirteen in 12-2
Victory Before Great Crowd
Last Saturday.

By John Uberti.

The largest assemblage ever to attend a league game at the Narberth Ball Park, numbering over two thousand, formed a vast human border about the battle-marked greensward to witness one of the most unexpected upsets in Main Line League pastime. Manager "Gene" Davis' masters of Main Line and Philadelphia baseball opened a savage, unsparing assault against the Berwyn tribe and crumbled them for the third time this season under the ponderous count of 12 to 2.

Narberth's ten straight victories of the past series went into a more auspicious session as those kings of the diamond released the throttle of devastation to stop the mischievous progress of those menacing challengers in a severe landslide of baseblows for the eleventh consecutive win of the year.

Back in 1928 after Bryn Mawr walked away with the first-half pennant, Narberth staged a hard uphill fight to best the series with those stubborn Berwyn boys, and in turn trounced the Bryn Mawrites for the flag. In the following year the local pachyderms of the Main Line League engaged in a more propitious combat for the championship when they proved their masterdom over the Doyle Nursery boys by dropping them twice in the Fourth of July double-header and again repeated their ruthless doings for the second-half gonfalon by sweeping

Asks Contributions for Independence Day Funds

As chairman of the Fireworks Committee for Narberth's Fourth of July celebration, I want to ask the people of Narberth and the surrounding communities to kindly send in their contributions at once, if they have not already done so.

The tremendous crowd which attended the display this year shows the popularity of this type of celebration; but if we do not receive the proper financial support we will not be able to have a celebration next year. To date only a little over four hundred dollars has come in, and the expenses were over six hundred dollars.

If you enjoyed the display, won't you please express that enjoyment by contributing now?

Advocates Navy Pact

The London Naval Peace Treaty, now being discussed by the United States Senate, was the topic of Richard R. Wood at Tuesday's meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Mr. Wood, who is a representative of the Women's International League of Peace and Freedom, advocated acceptance by this country of the three-power navy-limitation pact.

Railroad Completes Electrification of Schuylkill Division to Norristown

Electrification of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Schuylkill division as far as Norristown will be signalized by the first official trip of an electric train this Saturday evening. The coach, similar to those operating on the Main Line, is scheduled to leave Norristown at 6:30 P. M. for Philadelphia, returning to the county seat about 7:40. Norristown and other county officials and officers of clubs throughout this section are invited to make the trip.

There will be no reduction in the present service—and for the time being, no improvement upon it, according to the line's new schedule, effective this Sunday, July 20.

Thirteen trains daily will leave Cynwyd station (twelve from Bala) for Philadelphia, as of old, and six trains on Sunday. Leaving Philadelphia for Cynwyd station there will be fifteen trains daily, plus an extra one on Saturday. The old schedule calls likewise for fifteen trains plus one on Saturday. As for Sunday, there will be six trains from Broad Street by Cynwyd, as there have been in the past.

The service to Norristown will consist of seventeen round trips, daily, except Saturday and Sunday. The only passenger "steam train" service after July 20 will be two round trips daily between Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre. Electric power will be used for forty-one trains, and because of the quicker "get away," it is estimated a total of 341 minutes will be cut from their present running time. This means an average of slightly over eight minutes faster schedule per train to Norristown.

To Cynwyd station from Broad Street will be sixteen minutes, instead of between eighteen and twenty minutes, as formerly was the case.

Franklin Avenue, Norristown, will be the western terminus of the division's electrification. The line will be divided into five zones: the first from Broad Street to Norristown; the second from Norristown to Phoenixville; the third from Phoenixville to Read-fielding was not all that it might be, the balls often rolling into a neighbor's yard who kept them as hostages. As a reprisal measure the boys destroyed the neighbor's flowers. The boys' mother was instructed by the officer to keep her sons' athletic activities confined to her own yard.

The report of the Building Committee for the month showed that a total of eleven permits had been issued at a cost of $50 for operations estimated to cost $6490.

Permits were granted as follows: J. A. Maxwell, 107 Price Avenue, garage, $420; H. R. Colbourn, 109 Price Avenue, garage, $420; Peter White, 222 Hampden Avenue, alterations, $1200; R. S. Patterson, 41 Narbrook Park, shed, $500; H. A. Frye, 115 Wynnedale Road, alterations, $35; M. Braestead, 327 Conway Avenue, roof, $350; F. A. Abbott, 321 Conway Avenue, roof, $300; G. Parks, 930-34 Montgomery Avenue, roof, $700.

Sixty inspections were made during the month by the building inspector, fourteen operations being completed.

A verbal report on the convention of the State Association of Boroughs held recently at Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, was made by Councilman John R. Hall, who attended as the official delegate of the Borough Council.

A. C. Shand Leaves Estate of $366,011

Alexander C. Shand, former assistant to the vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who died March 8, left a personal estate of $366,011, according to an inventory filed last Friday in the Register of Wills office.

One of the principal items listed was a block of 1135 shares of Corn Exchange National Bank and Trust Co. stock valued at $141,875.

Mr. Shand lived in the Cambridge Alden Park, Germantown, and previously was a resident of Merion and Narberth for many years.

His estate is inherited by his son, Alexander C. Shand, Jr., of Merion, and three daughters, Barbara C. and Helen E. Shand, and Mrs. Elizabeth B. S. Loos, of Narberth, under terms of his will, which also bequeathed $1000 each to the Narberth Presbyterian Church, Bryn Mawr Hospital and Jefferson Hospital.

Naval Accord and Coal

Considerable attention has been drawn to Ralph S. Dunne's timely window display at the Narberth Coal Company office this week. Highlights of the Naval Disarmament Pact are shown by placards and by warships proudly sailing the main. And another card points the reminder: "Jeddo-Highland Coal to Promote Home Comfort."

'Cuckoo' Sidelights

"The Cuckoos," appearing at the Egyptian Theatre the first half of next week, is not a musical revue, although it features several song hits. It is a full-length production based on "The Ramblers," a Broadway stage hit, with the comedy sequences holding full sway. A brand-new type of screen entertainment, it is an extravaganza of delicious nonsense and riotous fun, savoring the mad wags of "Rio Rita" fame, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey.

Wheeler and Woolsey claim to have set a world's record for the number of comedy "gags" used in "The Cuckoos." From the opening scene until the final fadeout this inimitable pair are always in evidence with their rib-tickling numbers. They are cast as fortune tellers. Wheeler, by the way, claims he believes firmly in dreams, for early in his career he dreamed often that he had been offered a featured role in a Ziegfeld production, and that dream came true. Woolsey, of the thin face and horn-rimmed glasses, was a jockey until a race horse fell on his leg; he won success on the stage and with Wheeler went to Hollywood for the talkies.

During the "Caballero" number, the opening scene of "The Cuckoos," ten cameras were used to photograph the thousand people appearing on the huge "alkie" lot. Eight microphones recorded the dialogue, songs and music. Eighteen pianos were brought into action and 9000 powerful incandescent lights were used to light the scene. And 160 different types of costumes were used.

Most musical comedies of the screen have featured the singing and dancing numbers, but "The Cuckoos" reverses the ordinary routine and features the comedy. The show was "made for laughs."

Stage technicians have always claimed that comedy was an elusive factor and particularly hard to bring out on the screen. Special "gag" men are usually employed to insure the success of the embryo comedy. But Wheeler and Woolsey refused to have an assistant when filming "The Cuckoos." Every "gag" used by them in the picture is original.

The Egyptian's features for the rest of July are "Children of Pleasure," "In Gay Madrid" and "Free and Easy."

Narberth Defeats Gregorians Twice

Wins 3 to 2 on Home Field, Then Repeats Conquest in Return Game, 2 to 1.

POWELL STARS AT SHORT

By John Uberti.

The Gregorian Catholic Club of Philadelphia, tending to serve as an impediment in Narberth's path of glory, found their intentions foiled when they fell short in their plans to check the incessant string of victories of the borough club in two attempts. The first engagement went to the champions by the score of 3-2 and the second, a return game played at Fifty-fourth and Jefferson Streets, was won in like fashion, 2-1.

In their failure to swerve the favorable course which the Narberth leaders have assumed since June 19, when their defeat by Pennac marked their last loss for the season, the Gregorian nine offered them access to their twelfth and thirteenth consecutive victorious engagements. Both contests were featured by low scoring, in decided contrast with Narberth's usual plans of warfare. Howard Graham delivered on the peak in the home conquest, earning his fifth win of the season, and Joe McKee, the strikeout king, was a little off form in the foreign fray in allowing seven passes, but subdued the Quaker enemy with eight strikeouts which he compiled in the waning minutes of the fray and won his fifth for the year in six starts.

Each team scored in one-run spurts in the first game as Narberth exited triumphantly with a one-run lead. The visitors coined their first run in the opening game during the seventh inning when, with the bases packed, Graham issued a pass which automatically forced a man home. A walk and a double, greatly assisted by Gillfillan's overthrow to the hot-box, gave the visitors another point.

Heckle and Mulligan, lead-off men for the borough, started out with a double apiece in the first frame to assemble a run and coined their second in the third inning due to McGarrity's unsteadiness in issuing four consecutive tickets to first, the fourth automatically forcing in Heckle with an unearned run. Johnny Curwin replaced Martin in right-field in the sixth and got on from an alien blunder, crept around to third and sped over the rubber when Dempsey, Gregorian catcher, let a wild one go by. Graham was at bat at the time and a moment later struck out for the final retirement.

Co-operative swatting by Fleck and Masters in the first inning of the second game proved to be the winning hits of this contest, while "Howdy" Powell's splendid fielding in short, in which position he made four perfect retrieves and assists in five chances, turned out to be the outstanding obstacle in the enemy's path to triumph. Powell failed to garner a hit in four attempts, but his vigilant guidance of short made him the only luminary object of this game and the main factor to Narberth's second narrow-scored victory.

Lordy was first to face McKee in the opening round of alien competition and strolled. Brennen fell on strikes and Lordy went to the keystone on Spickler's sacrifice hit. J. Connell doubled into right-centre to score Lordy for the first and only run of the fray. O'Donnell blanked.

The Narberth boys bettered that score by one point and managed to hold the close lead until the end of the game to win. Powell struck out. Mulligan singled to centre and Fleck sent a double into right-centre and thus extended his hitting streak to eighteen games. Mulligan waited eagerly off third base as Humphries' aerial sped towards centre-field and ran in as Lordy pulled in the threatening swat. Fleck followed over the rubber on Masters' one-base hit and Blessing was thrown out, Brennen to Spickler.

Narberth Community Library

The Borough Council of Narberth has presented to the Narberth Community Library a bound copy of the borough code. This is a compilation of the laws of the State of Pennsylvania defining the duties, powers and privileges of those municipalities having the borough form of government. It is an important addition to the library's reference collection and should be very useful.

Another helpful reference work lately added to the library through the generosity of some person, or persons, unknown to the librarian is the one-volume edition of the Century Dictionary. A revolving stand has been purchased to facilitate the use of this bulky volume.

Highway Report Describes Department's Work

The report of the Highway and Sewers Committee of Narberth Borough Council, as presented at the July meeting of the borough government on Monday night, covers the items of routine handled by the committee during the past month. The report follows:

"In connection with the resurfacing of Wynnewood Court and Rockland Road last year, all of which was paid out of the Street Improvement Fund Account, there were certain items of expense which at that time it was agreed by Council should properly be paid out of the general funds of the borough. These were as follows:

For lowering and changing sewers in bed of Wynne- wood Court	$730.72
For manhole and inlets at Wynnewood Court and Wynnewood Avenue	50.00
For lowering surface drainage pipe at intersection of Rockland Road and Wood- side Avenue	191.05

Total

$971.77
"We therefore recommend that at this time the sum of $971.77 be transferred from the general funds of the borough to the Street Improvement Account.

"At the request of the Burgess, we are attaching herewith and making a in the budget.

"During the past month we have repaired the intersections of Dudley and Haverford Avenues and Conway and Haverford Avenues at a total cost of $145.88. This was done by authorization of the Highway Committee and had not been included in the budget. An inlet has been installed on the north side of Wynnedale Road at a total cost of $21.52. This is not a new inlet, but an improvement on the old one. This item also was not included in the budget.

"The items of work enumerated in this report which were not authorized by the budget total $380.96, but the saving of $684.56 on the Essex Avenue storm sewer budget estimate leaves a budget balance of $303.60 in favor of item number eleven. This is pointed out merely to indicate that although several items of expenditure outside of the budget have been made, the budget total has not been adversely affected.

"During the month of June we collected 500 cubic yards of ashes at a total cost of $403.02. Our total purchases of materials required for the jobs already enumerated during the month of June was $598.13. Our total expenses for labor during the same month, ash collections, street cleaning and street maintenance for jobs already enumerated was $1080."

part of this report a letter which he wrote to your chairman on June 19 and the correspondence with Mr. John C. Horlacher, of Sabine and Essex Avenues, in reference to the fence which he erected around his property this year.

"During the past month we have installed the storm sewer at Essex and Woodside Avenues at a total cost of $615.44 for labor and materials. The budget estimate for this work was $450 for labor and $850 for material. The actual cost was $304.92 for labor and $310.52 for material, a saving of $684.56 on the estimate.

"During June we repaired the intersections of Haverford Avenue and Oak Road and of Haverford Avenue and Iona Avenue at a total cost of $102.50. This item was not included on the 1930 budget, but the condition of the intersections became so aggravated that immediate repairs were necessary.

"A new inlet has been installed at the corner of Grayling and Windsor Avenues at a total cost of $59.11. This is another item which was not included in the budget, but which became necessary. Another inlet has been installed on Essex Avenue near the rear of Mr. Ricklin's property at a total cost of $51.95. This inlet was authorized by Council but had not been included

The Swimming Pool Fuss

Just as the Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool episode seemed closed following the action of the borough authorities in refusing to grant a building permit for a bath house and the Bryn Mawr Trust Company dropping the project in view of the expense which would be involved in meeting the Board of Health's stipulations regarding its conduct, a resident of the neighborhood called up the editor and inquired whether the paper was being conducted in the interests of a group of borough politicians or whether it is, as is stated on the masthead, a co-operative community newspaper devoted to the best interests of the town.

Let us state as emphatically as possible that Our Town is not run in the interests of any group, political or otherwise, and that it endeavors to serve the best interests of the community insofar as it is able. Its columns are open to discussion of any question which arises in the community and the only suppression of news it admits is that type which is considered objectionable by the great majority of citizens of a suburban community. We refer in this connection to news of juvenile delinquency, lawsuits, divorces, sex stories, arrests for drunken driving, etc. Of such news, we think any citizen will admit, there is far too much already in the city papers.

As regards the accusation that borough politics has entered into this swimming pool question, we believe there is little or no truth to such a statement. In the present editor's observation of the borough government for the past two and one-half years, it is our opinion that politics play no part whatsoever in the conduct of borough affairs. To err is, of course, human, but we think the men in whose hands the conduct of the borough's business rests are as disinterested and devoted to the public good as any group that could be assembled in Narberth.

Fine Work

Beginning the season of Main Line League competition in the cellar and ending the first half in undisputed possession of the top rung is a feat few ball clubs can accomplish, but this is just the trick that Manager Gene Davis' Narberth team has turned.

By virtue of its overwhelming victory in the playoff for the first half championship with Berwyn last Saturday, Narberth showed that this year's club is on a par with the championship teams of old when Narberth ruled the roost with an iron hand. Early in the season many must have said that the borough nine had seen its best days and its supremacy was a thing of the past. The remarkable record achieved by the Davismen in their upward swoop is one to be proud of by all Narberth residents.

In addition to its fine record in league competition, the Narberth Club has piled up, through Tuesday night, the amazing total of thirteen straight victories. This is a mark for Connie Mack's Athletics in their palmiest days to shoot at.

To Manager Gene, Assistant Manager Harry Hollar and the players we extend our heartiest congratulations on their success in upholding Narberth baseball traditions and the best of luck for the remainder of the season.

Schuylkill Electrification

Completion of electrification of the Schuylkill division to Norristown by the Pennsylvania Railroad marks an important step in the progress of communities along that line, including Bala-Cynwyd. Multiple-unit coaches, of the type operated so successfully along the Main Line for years, will appear more modern and ride more comfortably and rapidly than the old steam trains.

Although little change for the better has been made by the railroad in its schedule to nearby communities, there is reason for hope that increased train service is not far off. The schedule of the Norristown local is not comparable to that of the Paoli local—but at least Bala-Cynwyd and nearby points can now rejoice in the fact that they have an electric train service.

A Minnesota town has held a lawn mowing contest, but we seriously doubt that such events will become popular.

JESS—IN FUN

Well, they have finally succeeded in naming the Lindbergh lad, and now once again we Americans have nothing whatever to worry about except the business depression. Of course, food-stuffs are cheaper than they have been in years. Automobile prices are low, especially on used cars. In some places gasoline is practically being given away. The gasoline tax has been reduced. Most any one of us can afford to keep an Austin or two on the mantel or in the dog kennel. Air transportation is at the lowest level in history. Fine real estate can be had for a song, even the way I sing. Clothes costs are way down, as are skirts. The hey-day of the consumer is here. And all the while salaries have for the most part remained on basically their original level. We are really pretty well off but, having nothing else to trouble our minds, we are doing our best to talk this country into a business depression. What we need more than anything else is a war or a good, healthy kick in the pants, preferably the latter.

Whatever censure that body may merit and receive, certainly it can not be said that the Federal Farm Board has not a Legge to stand upon.

Now you can have a radio in your car and hear the best programs as you scoot along through Wayne at sixty miles per hour. As the policeman writes out your ticket (there's nothing wrong with the ticket industry in Wayne; the whole police force has writer's cramp from filling out the things), you can amuse him with a few light trifles from the current shows. This soothes him, and prevents you from saying things which really would be better unsaid. If you must offer advice concerning the proper policing of the Lincoln Highway, be sure that you know a radio station where you can tune in the "Prisoner's Song" in a hurry. It will be quite appropriate.

I have neither the time nor the inclination to work out a complete code of etiquette for the auto-radio combination, but it seems to me that certain musical numbers could, and should, be agreed upon as appropriate to the various traffic situations one encounters daily. Whenever I get to pushing the old bus along at better than sixty-five, Jasmine tunes in on Irving Berlin's little gem, "Remember." And I slow down immediately. I'll say I remember. I remember the night when I unexpectedly dropped in to help Farmer Jones with his spring plowing. By the time that I was through the fence, my front tires had already decided to remain on the roadway, and the bare rims formed an admirable plowing surface. Of course the furrows were not particularly straight, but certainly they were deep enough. Jones was most unreasonable and unappreciative about the whole matter. Not only did he refuse to compensate me for two furrows, forty by one by two, but he also demanded that I pay him the small sum of thirty-nine dollars. Just what I had received, or was to receive, for the money I have never learned. It seems that some farmers are so lazy and so unprogressive that, once they have sowed a field, they refuse to continue plowing it, and wholeheartedly resent any gratuitous plowing. Farmer Jones is one of these. He will never rise to the top in his chosen profession. People who refuse free labor will never be sufficiently well off to hire labor. I cherish no ill feeling for my farmer acquaintance, but when the price of wheat drops or when the Argentine production increases, the tears that I weep are strictly of the crocodile variety.

Again I find the column far too cramped for my intellectual output. There seems to be no space for a general consideration of the musical numbers appropriate for such traffic troubles as flat tires, fat cops, backseat drivers, straight-ahead drivers who clutter up left-turn lanes, double-parkers, et cetera. If the readers of this column (all three of them) care to mail in suggestions on these points, efforts will be made to provide space herein at an early date.

'Cuckoos' and 'Vagabond King' Come to Egyptian

"Honey," with Nancy Carroll, concludes its two-day run at the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd, this Friday night. Accompanying the sparkling tuneful comedy is a Harry Langdon comedy, "The Shrimp."

This Saturday's attraction at the Egyptian is a story of the army without a villain—and it's not a war picture! "Troopers Three" concerns a "smart aleck" hero who is his own worst enemy. The U. S. Cavalry, its work and play day by day, is the background for this original story by Arthur Guy Empey. The featured song is "As Long As You Love Me."

The world's first great comedy extravaganza will be presented at the Egyptian Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is "The Cuckoos," in which Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, the mad wags of "Rio Rita," hurl bolts of laughter in what is said to be the dizziest riot of fun ever brought to the screen. The cast includes Dorothy Lee, comely comedienne and dancer of "Rio Rita"; Hugh Trevor, June Clyde, Jobyna Howland, Mitchell Lewis and Ivan Lebedeff, assisted by a thousand cuckoos and nit-wits.

Gorgeous technicolor scenes are included, and there are several song hits—including "Dancing the Devil Away," "I Love You So Much," "All Alone Monday," "Oh How We Love Our Alma Mater," "California Skies," "I'm a Gypsy," "Laugh Today" and "Wherever You Are."

Following "The Cuckoos," the Egyptian will present, next Thursday and Friday, "The Vagabond King," the sensational romance based on the stage hit of the same name by Rudolph Friml, William Post and Brian Hooker, which in turn was based on Justin Huntly McCarthy's best selling novel, "If I Were King."

Dennis King plays and sings the title role as he did on the stage, and is assisted by Jeanette MacDonald, Warner Oland, O. P. Heggie, and a chorus of hundreds. "The Vagabond King" is done entirely in natural colors. It is a thrillingly romantic story of a vagabond who rose from the picturesque slums of Paris to the throne of France, to become "King for a Day" as one of Friml's many tuneful songs has it. Francois Villon was the famed poet whose mad pranks and glorious aspirations inspired the "Vagabond King" story.

Tigers, Shearer, Jolson Seen-Heard at Narberth

"A panorama of the mystery and contrast that is India" is presented by Talking Picture Epics, Inc., in "Hunting Tigers in India," an authentic camera and microphone chronicle by Commander G. M. Dyott, of the great Vernay-Faunthorpe expedition to India, conducted under auspices of the American Museum of Natural History. It is being seen-heard at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday evenings, and also at the daily matinees at 2:30.

The "talkie's" tremendous drama, thrilling action and sensational climax are faithful accounts of actual occurrences in the wilds of Gandhi-land. Accompanying the feature are Fox Movietone News, Fables in sound, and "Today and Yesterday"—a motion picture record of change and progress in thirty-five years.

Scheduled for showing in Narberth next Monday and Tuesday is a great actress in a powerful drama—Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," a story of marriage vows that were remembered. The cast includes Robert Montgomery and Conrad Nagel. Next Wednesday and Thursday Al Jolson will be seen-heard in his latest blackface characterization, "Mammy," in which he sings several popular songs. For Friday and Saturday the Narberth playhouse has booked "Honey," with Nancy Carroll. Also coming soon are "Courage," "Movietone Follies of 1930," Ramon Novarro in "In Gay Madrid," and Buster Keaton in "Free and Easy."

"CUCKOOS"

A TONIC GUARANTEED TO CURE THE WORST CASE OF BLUES

Mr. Gregory Shustamacher of 19 South Pole Road writes:

"Drs. Wheeler and Woolsey:

"The thing I wanted more than anything else came so easily I can hardly realize it. For years I looked like a man with his face in his lap. My best friends avoided me and my depression drove me to steal cheese out of mouse traps. My outlook on life was as gray as a pair of twenty-cent cotton stockings.

"A friend advised me to get acquainted with 'Cuckoos' and after one peep at this magic tonic I felt my interest in zither-playing revived. A second look mended the cracks in my spectacles, induced foot-tapping and made me determined to make whoopee. Thereafter I ceased taking tiny peeps at 'Cuckoos' and settled down for a grand look. I chuckled, grinned, chirped and roared. And imagine my embarrassment when six ushers had to pick me out of the aisle where I had rolled in laughter. You may use this testimonial with my name."

This De Luxe Electric Washer

The LAUNDRY QUEEN

What more could be asked of a washer?

Loaded with a typical family wash, a regular model of the Laundry Queen was started November 29, 1927, and allowed to continue washing until December 26, 1929—16,000 hours! Allowing for a three-hour washing period each week, this means the Laundry Queen did a hundred years of family washing without stopping. No oiling either.

YOU'LL MARVEL at the beauty, the battleship construction and the low price of the Laundry Queen. Six-sheet capacity; finished in beautiful high lustre stippled green and white vitreous enamel with glistening mottled green tub of porcelain; balloon rolls in finest Lovell wringer, metal non-tarnishable; welded channel steel frame in one piece with no bolts to work loose or replace; requires no oiling. Its great endurance record is your guarantee of years of splendid service! Only $99.50. Slightly more on deferred payments. And just think . . . for the payment of only a five dollar bill you can have this high quality washer in your home this very next washday ready to work for you. Come in and see it!

Prospect Park Loses, 4 to 2

Narberth went into its third productive week of championship baseball playing to register its string of victories at fourteen since starting out on its successful campaign last month. Bill Reynolds was credited for the win for the local cause in winning his third consecutive game for the season as he distributed four tiny hits to the Prospect Park Club to exit aloft four runs to two.

BENNETT & COUSLEY Manager

Narberth Defeats Berwyn For First Half Championship

aside their most unyielding nemesis in the league.

In view of the recent commendable game which these boys put up on the Fourth of July when they forced the boroughites into a deadlock for the championship of the first half, there was expected a closer game than was exhibited at that field on Saturday. The upset in this contest was not because of Narberth's victory over the foemen, for those monarchs of the diamond are never down until the final out has been registered, but it was a surprise to see the Davismen run away with the title with such ease.

Walter Masters was elected to serve in the box and perhaps Walter was joyful in receiving the nomination, for the college star was out to vindicate himself against the Berwyn club, who pummeled him at will in the previous game of the Fourth of July classic, when they pecked at him for eleven hits. Walter was more of what Connie Mack may expect of him next year in brushing aside Berwyn in this conquest, for the University of Pennsylvania grenadier of speed held the rival nine in the palm of his hand, dealing them the smallest number of hits he has ever allowed while in Narberth uniform.

The Doyle boys were unable to solve has cabalistic offerings, for during the first three innings they could not score a hit or a run, and in the fourth Doyle and Trost gathered one hit apiece, but which bingles proved unprolific due to Walter's close-fisted contributions. Again in the sixth Shank tabbed a sin for the third foreign hit, but the punch was still possessed by a ghostly lethargy and again they failed to score. Finally, in the eighth stanza, Berwyn achieved their greatest attainment of this game, and possibly of the year, when they averted a shut-out setback by sending in two runs off as many licks.

Narberth, in their turn at bat in nine innings, assembled no less than thirteen hits to keep up to the present standards of hitting. Only four men were left on the bags at the end of the contest, which feat relates a story of its own in delineating the exploits that lead to this top-heavy victory.

There have been many reputable pitchers to face the Narberth Club this year who at one time or another have been the idols of baseball, and, more than that, have been extreme favorites to check the turbulent tactics of the Narberth lads. But they came and went, sometimes never to be heard again. On Saturday, pitted against Masters on the eminence was that man of considerable wide baseball experience, K. O. Wagner, the choice of the Doyle Nursery boys to oppose Walt, is a youngster who has seen more service in the major and minor leagues than perhaps any local pitcher will ever see with the possible exception of Masters. Wagner went with the Albany Club and then was sent for by Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia champions in 1929. Wagner did not seem to possess the ingredients of a major league pitcher at the time, but Connie believed the lad would later on, so he handed him down to the Wichita Falls nine, where he expected him to add more necessary experience to his pitching career. However, Wagner was later handed over to the Portland Club, where he turned in victories for his first two performances on the hill, but the club then broke up, leaving Wagner stranded without a home. In addition to all this, Wagner has added still more experience to his career with smaller clubs such as the Berwyn Club, for whom he has given his services this year.

Joe McEntee was Master's greatest support with the hickory and in his unequalled performance on the initial sack, Joe slugged out four bombastic bingles out of five trips to the plate, one of these clouts being a homeric blow for his second of the season. McEntee's bat sent in three of the twelve runs earned in this game while he personally scampered over the disc on two occasions for a total of five runs. Joel Rubincam followed in close pursuit of McEntee by batting at a .667 pace, scoring one run and bringing in one himself. Bob Martin fell back in the race for the hitting championship of the club when in four appearances at the pentagon he poled out the second home run for this fray which brings the total for circuit blows to six for the present season.

Vernie Fleck, leader of the pack earlier in the season, relinquished his leadership among the hitters to Joe McEntee, but still bests his teammates in consecutive batting by raising the total to seventeen straight games to date.

In this jubilant championship triumph every man of the Narberth Club scored at least one hit and one run for the local cause, McEntee leading with the hits at four, and Martin with the runs at three.

Walter Masters looked his best on the hill in going the entire route for the champions, while Wagner, who started for the visitors, became skittish and foundered on the mound. Manager Redmond decided that six innings of pitching were enough in this predicament and sent the eminent hurler to pitch quoits in the club house. During Wagner's administration "Gene" Davis' sluggers scored six hits and five runs, one of these being a four-ply crash. Danny Trost came in from third base to relieve the stricken Wagner of his unfortunate ministry and was also pecked at unmercifully for seven more licks and seven additional runs, one of these hits also being a homeric crack. In other words, it was another repetition of their past Ruthian display where the pick of any pitching corps cannot stop their spirited concussions with the cowhide. Narberth was taking no chances with the challengers at the kick-off and started out scoring by tabbing a run in the first inning as McEntee's first nick sent in Martin who had previously been struck by a wild heave. Rubincam doubled in the fourth to ship in Heckle from third for the second run.

In the fifth frame Narberth's violent connections with the offerings of Wagner took the heart out of the Berwyn Club as the champions earned three more runs. Two hits, an error and wildness on the part of Wagner cost the foemen these runs, while three hits, another blunder and some more nerves pitching meant five runs in the sixth. Martin's homer in the eighth with Kearney on ending the scoring for the boroughites.

Narberth Juniors Swamp Jefferies and Manz

The Narberth Juniors swamped Jefferies and Manz to the tune of 10 to 2 last Thursday evening at the Narberth Playground. Jerry Casey gave a wonderful exhibition of pitching, striking out twelve of his opponents and allowing only eight scattered hits, while "Jumbo" Rose led with the stick, collecting three hits in as many trips to the plate, one of which was a home run. The team's batting average took a sudden jump upward when the Juniors gathered fourteen hits from the offerings of Gillard.

The Juniors wish to thank their loyal followers and would be pleased to see larger turnouts at later games as they are now in midseason form and playing first-class teams. The Juniors have won nine and lost seven to date. Next Tuesday night the strong Parkway A. C. team.

Officer Jimmy Taylor, 'Dream Home' Winner, Unaffected By Good Fortune

Receives Enthusiastic Reception at Ardmore Theatre; Tells Audience Good Fortune of Living in It Will Go to Someone Else.

The "Dream Home" at Sixty-ninth Street to which the attention of motion picture audiences and newspaper readers has been called for the past few months was won by James C. Taylor, of Ardmore, motorcycle policeman attached to the Lower Merion Township force.

He won it with 43,290 ballots clipped from the Philadelphia Inquirer and deposited at Stanley-Warner theatres in Philadelphia and its suburbs. The majority of Jimmy's votes were cast at the Ardmore Theatre, although scores of friends, including practically every conductor and brakeman on the Main Line electric trains, who collect hundreds of papers daily, saw that he had a substantial number of votes cast in central city theatres, in Frankford, in Bala-Cynwyd and elsewhere.

Announcement of the award was made from the stage of the Mastbaum Theatre on Thursday night, July 10, and the deed to the house, built by John H. McClatchey, was presented to Taylor the next day by Mayor Mackey in the Mayor's reception room in the Philadelphia City Hall. To say that Jimmy was pleased is putting it mildly, but it is significant that the familiar figure of the pleasant-looking boy in the policeman's uniform was seen on the pike a day or so afterward as though nothing had happened.

He reported for work the day after receiving the award, but Superintendent Smith sent him home to receive the friends who called to congratulate him, to open countless letters and telegrams and to find vases, jars, buckets, tubs and whatnot in which to put the flowers that kindly-disposed friends sent from 7 A. M. Friday until midnight Saturday.

"Flowers!" exclaimed Jimmy in an awe-struck voice; "gosh, when the flowers began coming I thought somebody was dead!"

Nevertheless, Jimmy was back at work on Saturday. And he's the same pleasant Jimmy Taylor, a little bit amazed at his good luck, but still able to wear his cap comfortably.

He appeared on the stage of the Ardmore Theatre for a few minutes on Thursday night and thanked his friends for their efforts in his behalf. And if one could judge by the applause, his friends are willing to turn to again and help him win anything else he fixes his mind on.

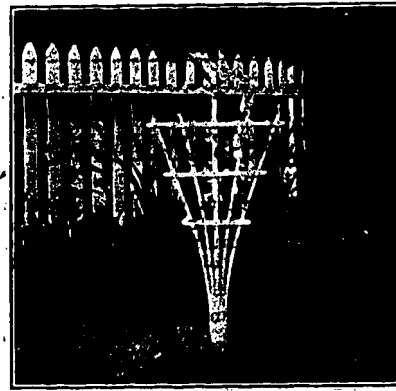

He told his audience that delightful as it would be to live in the "dream home" that good fortune would probably go to someone else, for "my wife and I won't try to live beyond our means."

"I have a good job and a good home in Ardmore, which is a good town to live in," said he. (And that line should have pleased the Chamber of Commerce.) "I may sell the new house or I may rent it, but at any rate I will try to see that the "dream home" nets us enough in the end to send our boys, Jack and Jimmy, to college and give them a start in life."

Jimmy Taylor is 26 years old and lives at 19 North Wyoming Avenue,

Ardmore. He was born in Ardmore and has lived here all his life. He attended the Lower Merion schools and while in his teens began caddying on the course of the Merion Golf Club. Being blessed with a frank, friendly spirit, he made many friends, a great many of them being persons of considerable wealth and influence in the social life of Philadelphia.

He later became regularly employed at the Merion Cricket Club and on April 6, 1925, was appointed to the Lower Merion police force. He is married and has two sons, James, Jr., 2½ years old, and Jack, 14 months old.
